The screenshot displays the pc/MRP software interface. At the top, a yellow box labeled "File Links Overview" contains the text: "File Links allows pc/MRP users to store unlimited links per address (customer POs and specs), per part number (drawings, generic travelers), per sales/work order item (actual traveler), etc." Below this, the "Address Book -- Edit Mode" window is visible, showing a table with columns for "Addr Id", "Company Name", "Addr Type", and "Status". A specific address is selected, and a pop-up window titled "External Links for ADDRESS ID ABC001" is open. This window has a table with columns "Type" and "Link Description", showing a single entry: "File po000044.pdf". A yellow callout box points to the "Links" button in the bottom toolbar, stating: "1. Click on the Links Button to Add, Display or Print a Linked File." Another callout box points to the "Open" button in the external links window, stating: "2. Click on the Open Button to see your customer's file. In this example it is their PO." A third callout box points to the "File" and "Print" buttons in the external links window, stating: "3. The document will be displayed. Click on File and Print to print the document." The main window shows a "Comments:" field with a "Logbook..." button. In the bottom right, a window titled "po000044.pdf - Adobe Acrobat Professional" displays a "PURCHASE ORDER" form. The form includes fields for "RAD TECH" (CONVECTIVE TECHNOLOGIES, 123 MAIN STREET, RICHLAND, CA 92020-4406), "Vendor: ABC MANUFACTURING COMPANY", and "Ship To: RAD TECH". A table at the bottom of the PDF shows item details:
